Letter From The Editor

Welcome to the second edition of NEW WINE Revolution! I am excited to release this issue on dreams and visions. As the church continues to draw closer to the Lord and rise up to a new dimension of living in the Spirit we must be equipped to understand how the Lord speaks to us.

If there ever was a time to be serious about seeking God, now is the time to seek Him, to know Him intimately, and to seek to understand what He is saying to us individually. We need His guidance in all of our decisions and He is faithful to guide us if we are listening to Him.

It is my hope that as you read the following pages, you will gain greater insight into how God uses our dreams and visions to speak to us, that you will have access to resources you may not have had in the past and that you will be encouraged that you can be equipped and learn to understand what God is saying to you in your dreams.

Welcome to New Wine Revolution, a magazine where we do speak about a revolution coming but we are the revolution that has come.

A Journey Into Learning How To Interpret Dreams & Visions

You can have a vision at night and it require no symbolic interpretation. In addition, sometimes only parts of dreams are symbolic and it is possible to over analyze it.

By Aimee Montgomery

I personally first started to listen to my dreams for the first time back in 2000...

I saw a minister on Christian television talking about how the Lord speaks to us in our dreams; that He will often give us guidance, prophetic insight and encouragement through our dreams. He was selling a Christian dream journal at the time and it provided some insight into how to interpret them. Most of it was through the colors that were in your dreams and drawing them out. However, I found that just by taking the time to write my dreams out and practice interpreting them, listening to the Holy Spirit, and watching them come to pass helped me to learn the most. At the time I was getting somewhere around 4-8 dreams a night and I found it difficult at times to spend time trying to interpret them all. Some of those dreams I am still waiting to see come to pass. But it was a season where the Lord had released the prophetic blueprint for my life directly to me through my dreams.

In 2008 I had a minister from Wales prophecy over me that God was about to expand my dream life to include prophetic direction for many others. Eventually, the Lord began to give me dreams about cities, countries and nations. Then the Lord revealed to me that He was using my dream life to call me to global intercession. This has taken my walk with the Lord to a whole new level.

There is no doubt in my mind that I would not be where I am today had I not taken the time to start listening to what God was saying to me through the visions and dreams He was giving to me at night. I have heard some say that they do not believe that God speaks to you at night in dreams unless you are not listening to Him during the day. However, I only find biblical truth for God speaking to His children in dreams and visions because that is how He chooses to speak. I have never found a scripture that says God will only speak to you in dreams if you do not listen to Him during the day.

We know that the Bible is clear that the Lord often speaks to His children in visions and dreams. In fact, Joel 2:28 say's, "And afterward, I will pour out my Spirit on all people. Your sons and daughters will prophesy, your old men will dream dreams, your young men will see visions." It is evident that we are now living in this season and I believe that the Lord desires us to hear what He is saying to us.

Just like the Lord gave Daniel the ability to understand visions and dreams of all kinds (Daniel 1:17), so I believe He is able to enable each one of us to interpret our own dreams and visions.

When I first started to practice interpreting my dreams and I would tell others what was about to happen no one would believe me until they saw it come to pass. This used to frustrate me until I realized that God was telling me for a reason and that reason was a call to prophetic intercession. Even if it involved others, the Lord did not always want me to release what He had spoken to me. In fact, I have found that sometimes He will allow me to release part of what He has spoken to me but to keep the rest to myself. This of course comes hand in hand with having a relationship with God where He can trust you not to share everything He speaks to you. As a prophetic intercessor often God will reveal to you the strategic attack the enemy has planned and so that you can intercede and reverse it. Not everyone can handle this kind of revelation and not everyone is called to intercession to this degree.

Having others interpret your dreams I think is not always beneficial especially if they are using a book of some sort to tell them the meaning instead of the Holy Spirit. I have found too many times someone well meaning attempted to interpret my dreams only to find out later they were totally off. I believe this can happen for a number of reasons. Everyone's dream life is different and everyone has their own dream language, but most importantly the Lord is speaking to you personally and the dream must always be interpreted in light of a persons current situation. Although there are also Biblical guidelines we can learn in interpreting dreams and be led by the Holy Spirit.

I personally get a lot of visions in my sleep and they are not always symbolic. If they are symbolic they often are only partly symbolic. But I have learned this over years of interpreting them and watching them come to pass. Learning how my dream life is different from others has allowed me to come to the conclusion that what is most important is what the dream or vision means to the dreamer, in the context of their life and what the Holy Spirit is saying. If someone else attempts to give meaning to every single item in your dream and has no understanding to what is going on in your own life and how the Lord is moving often they are working with only partial information.

There is one particular minister that interpreted my dreams back in 2007. He was the first one that ever interpreted my dreams and I found it very interesting at the time that not only did my dreams tell him prophetically what was going to happen in my life but also about me as an individual. At the time he interpreted two of my dreams. One was a warning of a struggle I was about to face in my life of being resisted by many around me in stepping out into ministry. This of course has come to pass and I have overcome all of it. The other was about how I would meet my future husband. But what I discovered through this process was that although he pointed out some insights he had, I still had deeper understanding and details revealed to me than ever given to him. I do on occasion still use the book he wrote to refer to once in awhile, but I understand that the Holy Spirit is the one who gives us the most detail and guidance in understanding our dreams.

I think that is important to remember it is the Holy Spirit speaking to you personally and He desires that you learn to understand Him rather than going to someone else all the time for interpretation. We can learn from others on how to interpret and listen to their teaching and we can learn Biblical principles in interpreting dreams, but we do need to come to a place where we listen more to the Holy Spirit than depending on others to do it for us all of the time.

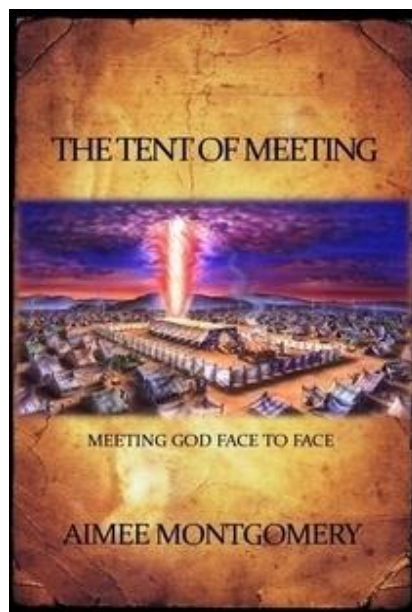

One of the books I personally recommend for anyone learning to interpret dreams and visions is from the same minister who interpreted my dreams for the first time. It is Dreams and Visions: How to Receive, Interpret and Apply Your Dreams by Dr Joe Ibojje, available through Amazon.com

Essential Oils Of The Bible

By Aimee Montgomery

In this edition of NEW WINE...

Revolution Magazine I have included an article from Sharnaal Wolveteron regarding essential oils that you might find is not necessarily part of the theme of "Dreams and Visions." I included this material because I feel it is important information that many people need and can use in their everyday lives.

I believe that God heals us of all our sicknesses and diseases, but I also believe that He has provided us with many ways that we can improve our health and not get sick in the first place. I also believe that often times when we improve our health through eating right, exercising and utilizing other healthy options we can often reverse sickness in our bodies.

I have chosen to partner with Sharnaal and I have started to provide sell essential oils to those who need them as well as giving 10% of the proceeds to help fund the building of a school and home in Kenya for girls that have been rescued out of prostitution. These oils are available through my website.

I have been spending much time studying the oils of the Bible, taking a class on the subject and have learned how they can be used to improve your health. I have also been undergoing training on how to teach others how to use them properly. I am not one who is into any other faith except that of Jesus Christ and some have asked if these oils are tied to anything but Jesus Christ. However, I assure you that I will only promote and teach on those things I know are from the Lord and found in His Word.

I do believe that we can anoint and pray over the oil that we use to pray for others and that the anointing the Holy Spirit has given us to impart brings healing. Imagine using pure oils that God intended us to use in combination with His anointing to pray for each other? Imagine the benefits of these oils to bring Us better health in the natural combined with His Holy Spirit and power to heal. Not only would we be healed but our health would be restored permanently so that we would not get sick again because of poor health choices.

I have started to use these oils in my own daily life and I have also started to give them to others to try out and report back to me what they experience. I first tried using Frankincense on my temples to help reduce stress and it completely worked. Then I used a combination of oils they call Peace and Calm to help me with sleep and for the first time in about ten years I slept through the entire night.

I used peppermint to help give me energy during the day by putting it on the back of my neck and it kept me from feeling sluggish. I also put it in some tea after going to the fair with my family and eating a lot of junk food to help with digestion and I did not get an upset stomach from all the greasy food that I ate. Finally, my father had some pain from what is known as tendonitis and so I asked him to try to put it on his elbow and his wrist. Within about ten minutes his pain was almost gone, later that evening he called me and let me know the pain was still gone.

I am excited to learn about how these oils can help us in our everyday lives, that God intended us to use them even in our church services and that it is a path to greater health.

The Bible refers to specific essential plant oils used in healing yet not many in the western world have truly understood or utilized this knowledge provided to us in the Word of God. In fact, most of our anointing oil is not even real oil or it is so diluted it is ineffective. These same plants used thousands of years ago, are now available today for the healing of our body, our emotions and our spirit.

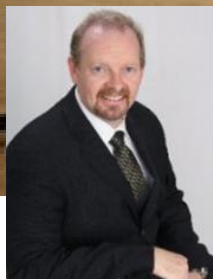

Visit our website today to order your oils and learn how to use each oil to begin experiencing vibrant health on a whole new level. Feel free to contact me if you have any questions about any of the products.

In addition, if you would like me to come speak to your church on the oils of the Bible I would welcome the opportunity. We all need to learn how to improve our health based upon things the Lord has already provided to us in His Word.

So today as you begin to learn more about oils think of purchasing some and in the process giving to in a life of a young girl saved out of prostitution. If you would like more information about the missionary I have partnered with in Kenya please visit my website for details. www.aimeemontgomery.org

Dreams & Visions Deliver

“Visions and dreams connect us to the supernatural and the supernatural takes the control of the destiny out of the hands of man and puts it into the hands of God”

By Dr Bob Cathers

Hebrews 11:1 says, “Faith is the substance of things hoped for”...

People get stuck on the faith and then they miss the hope but the truth is that there can be no faith without hope. That is why hope is considered one of the three eternal virtues in 1 Corinthians 13. And what is hope? Hope is a vision, hope is an image, hope is the ability to see what is not there and not see what is there. In Romans 4 reveals that against hope Abraham believed in hope that he might become the father of many nations. For without hope there is no faith and again hope is a vision. Majority of how God has spoken in times past and majority of the scripture that was written came through visions and dreams. In Genesis 15:1 it says that the word of the Lord came unto Abraham in a vision. Peter received the revelation to go to the gentile world in a dream or as some would call a vision of the night in Acts 10. Again in Acts 2, the scripture says that the Holy Spirit would speak to the church through visions dreams and prophecy.

The scribes and the pharisees of today are afraid of visions and dreams because they connect us to the supernatural and the supernatural takes the control of the destiny out of the hands of man and puts it into the hands of God. Your destiny is in the hands of God. I grew up in the Nazarene church where we were never taught on visions and dreams and in late 1979 I fully committed my life to Christ and a couple of months after that I had the first vision of my life. Though I did not understand most of it at the time, it laid the foundation for what my life and what my ministry would become. Through the years many prayers that I have been prayed have been answered through visions and dreams and this has created a seal and a long lasting faith well beyond the immediate revelation.

I can only begin to scratch the surface on the depth of what visions and dreams mean to the Christian and to ultimately understand that God speaks to his people through imagery and that the purpose of Satan is to distort the image of God on the inside of us.

2 Corinthians 10:3-5, says that we are to cast down imaginations, that means an image that is dwelt on that means that satan tries to bring in a false image, a false dream and a false vision. His kingdom is all about bringing in an image of no value a vision of despair. Jesus said that I have come so that you might have life and have it more abundantly. Do not be afraid of the visions and dreams that God wants to bring into your life but embrace them and once you have them write them down and revisit them often because many times they are revelations that we are meant to grasp and walk in for the rest of our lives.

About Dr Bob Cathers:

Bob was born in Belfast, Northern Ireland, and immigrated with his family to the United States at age 4 and was raised in Sylmar, California. At age 20, Bob attended Rhema Bible Training Center in Oklahoma and while there, God gave him a vision regarding Hebrews 1:8. From this verse came the acronym, “SOARING,” the Scepter of Authority and Righteousness in God. Over the past twenty years God has continued to reveal to him the depths of this scripture.

At age 23, Bob established his first church, which he pastored for twenty years. At the same time, he also established other churches and ministries, which included a Bible school as well. After he received a word from God, Bob gave up this church to begin a new work, which was to establish a “Gathering Place” learning center, which he is the Apostle over. The Gathering Place was established as a prototype of a new kind of church based on the righteousness of God and the right-standing of believers before Him.

In November 2006, Bob was presented with an honorary doctorate by the Latin University of Theology, which has been a major catalyst for new opportunities for him to minister both inside and outside of the church. Recently, Dr. Bob has been ministering to high authorities within the governments of Uganda, Kenya, and Burundi, in East Africa.

He has also been hosting financial seminars for local businessmen in these countries as well. Locally, he has been teaching “Righteousness Revolution” and “Paramount” seminars in various locations and cities. Dr. Bob is continually expanding the Gathering Place as a learning center, and in the near future will be establishing a local location for the Latin University of Theology. He will also be expanding his seminar venues and speaking engagements as well. www.robertcathers.com

Getting our DREAMS and SPIRITUAL GIFTS UNWRAPPED!

Our Dreams, Gifts and Highest Callings Could be Unwrapped by Our Enemies!

Genesis 50:20 in the Message Bible says, "Don't you see, you planned evil against me but God used those same plans for my good, as you see all around you...life for many people!"

God used Joseph's hateful brothers, Potipher's wife's false accusations and an unfair prison sentence to unwrap his dream. Then there was King Saul's spirit of jealousy and rage which was used to unwrap David's crown for kingship. Also Judas' betrayal was used to unwrap Jesus' destiny to be King of Kings and Lord of lords! Who is God using in your life to unwrap your destiny?

I sense many of God's people are frustrated, not able to unwrap their dreams, spiritual gifts and callings. I am discovering that it takes all kinds of people around us to unwrap the gifts and dreams that God has placed inside of us. God often puts something we need in the person we don't like! Can a gift unwrap itself? Neither can we. When it comes to unwrapping your spiritual gifts and dreams, you don't get to open them. God uses other people to do that, for your gift and dream is not for you - it's for others!

How God Unwrapped My Prophetic Gift and Activated His Dream in My Life!

Many years ago in our church as I led worship, I would experience God's powerful anointing. I loved leading worship and the church seemed to love it when I led too. Let me caution you. When you fall in love with your gift and others begin to fall in love with it--be careful. That's when God usually brings people into your life to unwrap you from that gift that you got wrapped up in!

Shortly thereafter, a new elder came on the scene and was given the privilege and authority to call on people to lead worship. I noticed something--he wasn't calling on me! So I began to pray for him for I knew he must have a lot of problems. For God's word says not to touch My anointed. As I prayed for him, nothing happened. I had to sit in the congregation and die in my seat as I longed to be up in the pulpit leading worship. Every time I would look at him up front, I felt a knife going in me. During this time, I would actually get physically sick going to church.

Finally the Lord walked me through Matthew 5:23-24, "Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; (or in my case, if you have ought against him) leave thy gift before the altar and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother and then come and offer thy gift."

It took me many months to walk through forgiving this elder and asking God to bless him and then being able to bless him myself by taking him out to lunch. I then realized why God says to feed your enemies. When we do, Jesus pulls a chair up to that same table and knocks the walls down between you and the person you don't like and causes you to have communion as you eat together!

Finally after many months, we were totally reconciled as though he never had hurt me. Right after we were reconciled, I will never forget the very next Sunday morning in our church. During worship, a Spirit of prophecy came upon me for the first time, and I gave a powerful prophetic word that went outside the walls of our church into nations! After the service was over, God spoke to me. He said, "Bill, it wasn't that elder that moved you out of the pulpit from leading worship. I used that brother to move you, for you loved leading worship so much, you wouldn't have stepped down on your own. I used that elder to move you. I had a another gift to give you, and you wouldn't have been able to receive this prophetic gift in the pulpit since you were all wrapped up in leading worship!"

Getting Past the "Wrapping Paper" to Find the True Gift in Others that May Help Your Dream Come True!

Many times in my life over the years, I have not been able to get to know certain people because I didn't like how they were "wrapped!" They were so different than me, and how they ministered seemed to be a bit crazy. I have noticed something late in life--God seems to increase His anointing on people whom I wouldn't! And I am learning that just maybe they are doing something right after all. It's time we get past the wrapping paper and find the true gift in each other! Lately, God is bringing people back into my life so I can help unwrap their gift and help bring it forth to bless even my own life.

A Christmas Story: There was a father who had a little daughter that was wrapping his Christmas gift with the most expensive wrapping paper in the house. He didn't say anything to her because he loved her. On Christmas morning, the father began to open his gift from his daughter, and as he unwrapped the gift and opened the lid of the box, he found nothing in it. He was so upset, he lost it and blew up at his little girl. He said, "Honey, you used the most expensive wrapping paper we had to wrap my gift and there is nothing in the box!" The little girl responded and said, "Daddy, that box isn't empty, I blew kisses in it for you. I blew kisses in it for you, daddy!" Not long after, the little girl was killed in an accident. When the father was so depressed, he would open up the lid of that box and pull out an imaginary kiss.

Listen carefully--there is always something in the box! God has made every person on earth in His image and even when we think someone has no value or has no gift, there is always something in every person that God has placed to bless our lives.

We must get past one another's gifts and get to know each other! Our gifts can actually hide us and hinder people from knowing us. I believe many of the most gifted in the Body of Christ are the loneliest. It's lonely at the top. They can't help feeling that people are after their gifts instead of loving them for who they are. I believe God is taking us from paper to people! I believe the greatest gift we can have on earth is a friend. Perhaps our greatest call is being a friend of God, a friend to sinners and a friend to others. God wants us to be known for who we are, not for what we do! I sense the more I am around people and just love them for who they are, their gifts begin to be activated and so are mine!

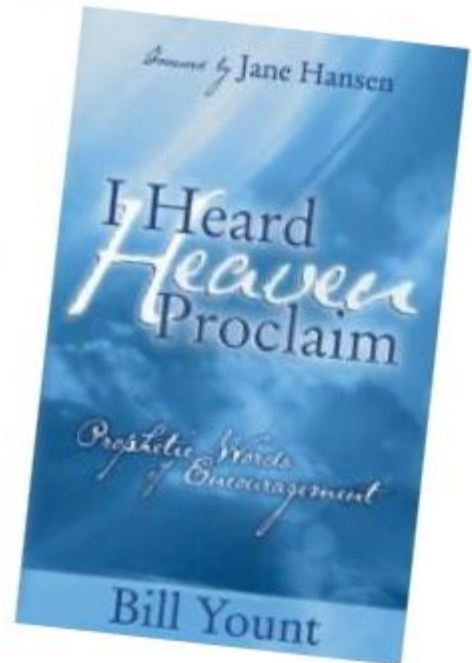

Many times, the people with the greatest needs will pull on your gifts and draw the love of Jesus out of you. It will always be as it was with Jesus--He was moved with compassion for the people and many miracles, healings and wonders took place. Jesus made their dreams come true.

The Lord Is Speaking To You Thru Dreams & Visions

By Josh Crofton

When I was first asked to write an article about visions and dreams,...

my first thought was “am I having visions and dreams? Holy Spirit, have you been speaking to me in this way?” Honestly, God speaks to me in multiple ways, but the main thing is that I pay attention when He's speaking. So lets talk about visions and dreams from God, how many of you out there are experiencing some kind of unique communication that you feel is from God? How often is He speaking to you? What is He telling you to do? These are the kinds of questions that need to be answered in order to understand why God speaks in mysteries sometimes.

Lets start out by defining what visions and dreams are...

Joel prophesied that in the last days God would pour out His Spirit on all flesh, your sons and daughters would prophesy, old men would dream dreams, young men would see visions (Joel 2:28-31). God was saying that a time in history would come when He would begin to make His power and presence known to all humanity, both Jews & Gentiles. It has always been the desire of God to have fellowship with sons & daughters, as God is pouring out His Spirit, there will be no shortage of revelation and communication from Him.

The Father so desires to communicate with us, He takes the time to speak mysteries that are not always easy to understand. Think about it, why would God speak to you in a dream or in a vision? Why not just tell you plainly what He wants to say, I mean come on God, I know you want me to understand your language, but why the symbolism, why the mysteries? Can't you just give me a clear understanding without all the hidden meanings?

Let me take a crack at that question, I think part of the reason

God speaks to us the way He does is so we will take the time to seek His face for the correct interpretation. Sometimes He can be very clear, God might be telling you not to go a certain direction in your life, while other times it doesn't seem to make much sense, but in all of it, He has given us the ability to understand His mind in these matters.

Daniel is a perfect example of someone who understood the importance and power of visions and dreams. The bible says that an excellent spirit was upon Daniels life, he was given wisdom to interpret dreams and visions (Daniel 1:17). King Nebuchadnezzar was a wicked pagan king, yet I find it interesting that God wanted to communicate with him, and chose to give him a dream. God already made provision for Nebuchadnezzar to understand his dream through Daniel. God loved King Nebuchadnezzar enough to speak to Him about the future of his kingdom, even though King Nebuchadnezzar was ruling his kingdom in direct opposition to Gods law. God was wanting to communicate with Him and give Him an opportunity to do right in Gods sight. Daniel was placed in the court of an evil king for the purpose of revealing the wisdom and power of God, all because of a dream. (Sounds like dreams are important).

Joseph was given a dream that would only come to pass after he went through a process of pain and betrayal by those closest to him. Joseph spent 13 years of his life living as a slave in a foreign land until Pharaoh had a dream. God prepared Joseph through the trails and tests he went through, as he continued to exercise the ability to interpret dreams while in prison, Joseph didn't let his surroundings keep him from being used by God. Joseph walked with integrity when no one was looking, and in one day he was promoted to second in command over Egypt, all because Pharaoh had a dream that no one could interpret but Joseph.

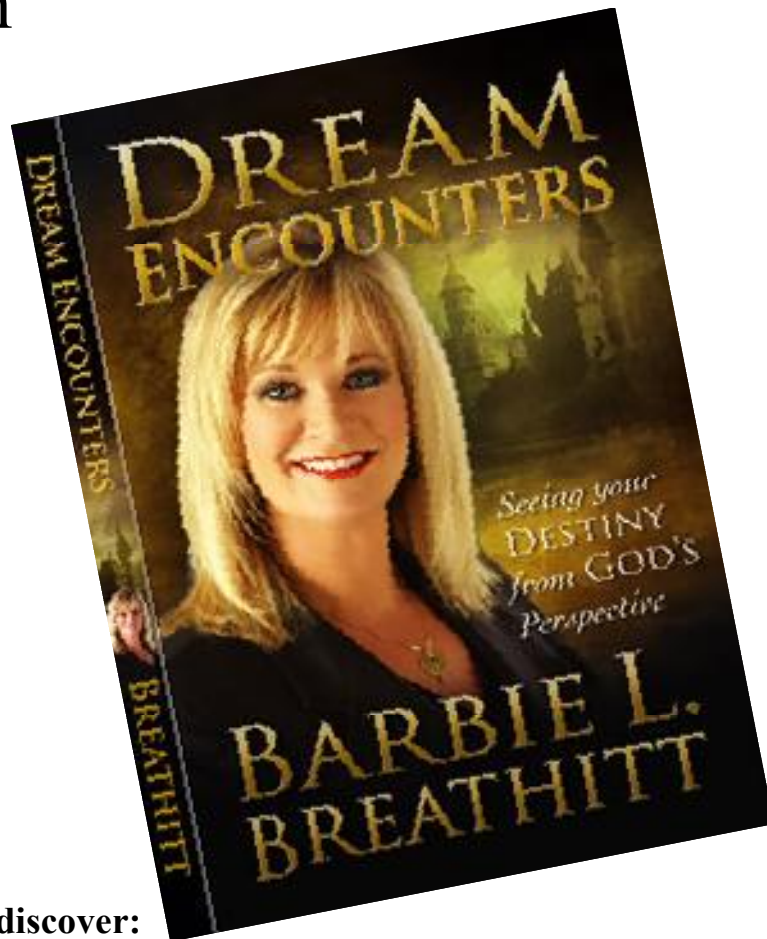

We are now at the end of an age where God said He would open up the mysteries of heaven and make them known to His church. The angel told Daniel in a vision to conceal the words he was given, and to seal up the book until the time of the end (Daniel 12). The apostle John was about to write down what the seven thunders of the Lord uttered, but he was told by the angle to seal up the book, (Revelation 10). We are now living in the days that were prophesied of thousands of years ago. God promised that He would pour out His Spirit on all flesh. He said He would cover the earth with the knowledge of His glory as the waters cover the sea (Habakkuk 2:14). This is an exciting time to be alive, and what an opportunity God has given us to partner with Him through fellowship with His son Jesus. We have been called by the Father to live in this world with an intimate awareness of the Holy Spirit active in our day to day lives.

To those of you who are out there in the world, you are the called and chosen of God. This is your opportunity to embrace the voice of God however He chooses to speak, whether through dreams, visions, prophecy, or face to face encounters with Him, this is your opportunity to hear His voice and enter into a kingdom without walls, without limitations. You were born for this hour, I challenge you to embrace a relationship with God that is beyond the borders of mere religious activity and step into the supernatural impact of Gods love toward your life.

Revelation3:20 Here I am! I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in and eat with him, and he with me.

What is the purpose of a dream? How does God use dreams in our lives?

What dreams should we pay attention to and what dreams should we ignore? How much influence should they possess in our lives? Is it safe to ignore them and how safe is it to act on them? The premise of this book is to explain the depths to which the Lord uses dreams to affect our lives. He uses dreams to wake us up, to give us prophetic insight, and to spur us forward toward our dreams and destiny so that we don't lose sight of them.

In a society where success often looks like busyness and hurried insanity, God sometimes talks to us the only way he can ... when we are asleep. That is when we are quiet enough to hear him. He can reveal our emotions, our pain, future events, and even the secrets of other's lives to us. The puzzles that God uses in dreams are a secret language known to us, God, and to the people we have the dreams about.

Do dreams have restorative power? Can a good dream life make the dreamer live longer, be healthier, happier, and even thinner? In today's society of rush and clamor, everything is tied to speed and production. Whipping around a drive-through or "speed" surfing the internet, we tend to spend less time sleeping and more time searching. While we sleep our soul continually searches for God. We desire to make intimate contact with the all-knowing Creator. "He will not let your foot slip—He who watches over you will not slumber; indeed, He who watches over Israel will neither slumber nor sleep" (Psalm 121:3–4 NIV).

A true dreamer is one who sees the impossible, and knows through God it will become possible

Sleep is the time God chooses to give us his perspective, to steer us away from harmful events, and to give us life, vision, direction, provision, and destiny. As our understanding is enlightened we will be able to follow the leading our dreams provide.

A scoffer may seek wisdom and find none, but spiritual knowledge comes easily to one who has an understanding heart. Wisdom rests in the hearts of those who seek to have spiritual understanding of their dreams.

A true dreamer is one who sees the impossible, and knows through God it will become possible. Dreamers are able to see the shadow of things to come as if by moonlight, by joining their faith to believe, the rays of the morning's dawn bring the understanding and visionary clarity. In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls on men as they slumber in their beds, He may speak in their ears and terrify them with warnings, to turn man from wrongdoing and keep him from pride, to preserve his soul from the pit, his life from perishing by the sword (Job 33:15–18 NIV).

A fantastic, almost nightmarish, and horrific dream sequence is recorded in Genesis 15:12–13 when Abram the patriarch was cast into the dream realm by hearing the voice of the Lord as a deep sleep fell over him. As the sun was setting, Abram fell into a deep sleep, and a thick and dreadful darkness came over him. Then the LORD said to him, "Know for certain that your descendants will be strangers in a country not their own, and they will be enslaved and mistreated four hundred years" (NIV).

God spoke to Abram in the night seasons so that Abram would listen and hear God's voice while in a peaceful state. Dreams unlock the deepest depths of knowledge and understanding as we peacefully rest in God's embrace. Dreams allow our hearts to express our inner beliefs in a grand way.

Abram's descendant Jacob experienced a desert sleep, which allowed him to see a heavenly stairway that joined the gateway of heaven to an entrance point on earth. The Lord's angelic messengers were ascending and descending upon the ladder delivering the Lord's prophetic declarations and visions to Jacob as he slept. Genesis 28:10–17 is an account of this heavenly event.

Jacob was able to feel and sense the powerful presence of the glory realm that was deposited in the natural realms of earth. He presented a memorial offering in honor of God's visitation. Jacob left that place with an assurance that God was with him, and was watching over him to direct his path as he journeyed through life. To know the path to our future and destiny we only have to embrace the dreams God gives. Out of the obscure will rise the clear, out of the dark chaos will rise the light of a new day dawning, and out of a dream will rise our destiny.

God-given dreams of destiny and success will empower us to conquer our mistakes and nightmares of the past.

Dreams are God's night parables that direct our path and speak to our daily needs in life. These dream events and awesome promises came while the dreamers, both Abram and Jacob, were sleeping.

It is the same for us today. The questions we have about the future are answered in our dreams today. The time we spend sleeping has many diverse and varied benefits. Sleep allows the physical body to rest, repair itself, and improve our health. It also gives us the vision for tomorrow.

Life would be so much smaller if we were not able to dream. So dream largely and see God's hand move to bring increase, largeness, sufficiency, and a grand future to pass. The quality and length of our lives is related to the quality and quantity of our sleep patterns and dreams. The lack of proper sleep cycles is directly related to an increase in high blood pressure, heart disease, high cholesterol, migraines, diabetes, and weight gain. Hormones become imbalanced due to anxiety and stress, which leads to a decrease in the proper function of the immune system, stomach problems, metabolic changes, and other physical ailments. These conditions appear more frequently in people with insomnia or sleep apnea who only sleep an average of four to five hours a night. Sleep deprivation for prolonged periods causes forgetfulness. It also affects our cognitive reasoning, our concentration, our moral judgments and memory skills as well as our physical performance. This accelerates the aging process. No wonder our physical appearance changes with the lack of sleep. As we grow older, the levels of growth hormones drop drastically, causing variations in our moods, muscle mass, skin tone, and energy levels.

The more dream symbols and their corresponding meanings we know, the more clearly God can speak to us in dream pictures that we will understand. Sleep disorders cause disruptions in the normal patterns of brain waves, heartbeats, and respiratory system which affect our dream cycles. Depression is also prevalent in people who are not able to maintain healthy sleep patterns. Getting the proper amount of sleep is a good way to keep our hormone levels in balance and maintain a youthful appearance. It is essential that we learn to still our racing minds by releasing stress and calming ourselves. Instead of ruminating or mulling over problems and concerns of the day, make it a habit to compile a list of thoughts, worries, and concerns on a pad of paper kept near the bed. Whisper a simple prayer. Ask God for the needed answers and then allow his peace to take over. We should believe that we will receive God's divine intervention and answers and enjoy peaceful, deep sleep. Proverbs 3:24 When you lie down, you will not be afraid; Yes, you will lie down and your sleep will be sweet.

We can trust God to supply the needed answers by formulating dreams that bring needed insight as we slumber. Our dreams are God's answers to the questions we hide within. Once our dreams are embraced we have the courage to give them expression. 1 Peter 5:5–7 tells us "God resists the proud, [those who try to deal with their problems on their own without asking for his assistance or Divine intervention] but gives grace to the humble [to those who ask]." Therefore humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you (raise you above the problem so you don't remain beneath it) in due time, casting all your care upon Him, for He cares for you."

As we learn to bring our cares and concerns to God, he will deliver us from the weights that try to bury us. There is a biochemical nature to dreams in that we all carry the capacity to dream. Dreaming by day and by night allows the Holy Spirit to fill in the missing pieces of the puzzle with the wisdom God sends in answer to our prayers. Our souls desire spiritual growth and fulfillment. Dreams unlock and release the creativity that is held captive within the soul. We must dream to maintain a healthy life, both spiritually and physically.

The body's need to rest, relax, and rejuvenate is an essential part of remaining healthy and prosperous. 3 John 2 says "Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers."

The link between our ability to enter into a deep, restful, good night's sleep in order to receive and then to understand the messages of our dreams is an important part of maintaining the health of our physical and spiritual bodies. In this way, dreaming is as much a physical event as it is a spiritual one. We must cherish the dreams we are given and guard them with determination. If we allow them to be stolen, or fall to the floor by ignoring them, they will be trampled underfoot and their benefit will be lost. Biblical history agrees that God has spoken to mankind through dreams since the beginning of time. Our dream life is like a highway on which messages are carried to the mind's eye and then to the spirit. These messages may come from a variety of sources: from the body, from the soul, from evil influences in the demonic realm, or from God through messengers of the angelic realm. As the Holy Spirit hovers over mankind, he embraces us during the night season, and gifts us with dreams that call us to pursue him with all our hearts. Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge Him, And He shall direct your paths (Proverbs 3:5–6).

The mysteries he seals within our spirits create urgency within us to seek after him for the key to unlock the revelation he has deposited. And those who know Your name will put their trust in You;

For You Lord, have not forsaken those who seek You (Psalm 9:10).

When the message is from God, REM sleep is an opportunity for him to bypass the rational thinking of our logic and deposit messages through the mind's eye, or what we refer to as the image center. The mind's eye can be defined as: the human ability for visual perception, imagination, visualization, and memory. In other words, the mind's eye is one's ability to see things with the mind. Because many dreams are symbolic mysteries, God's guidance is necessary to uncover their hidden meanings. God intended that we get to know him better through this process of discovering the meaning of our dreams. Our image center is a vehicle that the Holy Spirit can access if we are open to him. The Holy Spirit will give us dreams in the night or streams of thought during the day to bring revelation and direction to our lives.

We must activate and train the human spirit to open the door of our hearts by inviting the Holy Spirit to search, test, and teach us; for it is out of the abundance of the heart that our life flows. The Spirit of God will show us glimpses of our nature and our responses to our natural life situations through a spiritual window. The Bible tells us He who covers his sin will not prosper, but whoever confesses and forsakes them will have mercy (Proverbs 28:13).

Symbols are often used in comparison to counterparts. They represent something else by association, convention, or resemblance. Usually symbols depict a material object that is used to represent something more abstract. Similarly, dreams are God's symbolic parables of the night. They are a part of his parabolic language that he uses to speak to us in our sleep. These same symbols may also appear to us as an answer to our prayers. He makes us aware of our true selves, as well as others' true identities, through the symbols he interjects into our dreams. The color, shape, size, and number of symbols will all give us needed information about the message our dream was meant to reveal.

It is always beneficial to encourage people to record, track, and categorize their own dream symbols. This will enable them to recall the dream's meanings, which are integral to our growth and development. This picture language has been given to us so that we might understand the mysteries or their symbolic representations in our dreams. Hosea 12:10 says, "I have also spoken by the prophets, and have multiplied visions; I have given symbols through the witness of the prophets" (KJV).

Dream symbols can be defined as things or objects that represent something or someone else in a dream or vision of the night. These symbols can also be material objects representing something subjective or abstract.

We must always rely on the Holy Spirit to give us the correct interpretation for the symbols that appear in our dreams. In one dream a symbol may represent something, but it may indicate something else entirely in another dream because the colors, characters, context, or setting of the dream is totally different. We cannot insist that one symbol is always going to mean the same thing every time, because if we did, we would be putting God in a stagnant box and trying to wall him into our limited understanding. God is a Spirit who flows like a progressive, changing river that is always new. We must learn to flow and change with him.

Stepping Out In Faith Against All Odds

By Pastor Tiger Aguon

I'm reminded of the Lord calling me...

to plant a church almost a year ago I surely thought I was going to go crazy. I was living in Chattanooga, Tennessee with a plush associate pastor job, an awesome pastor, great church, and a beautiful home – I was comfortable. I heard the voice of God speak that to me in September, and I pondered it for quite awhile, a very long while. He wanted me to move from more than enough to nothing? Sounds selfish, but I was trying to think about finances, food, housing, etc.

In January I was sitting in Baldwin, Georgia at a local conference and I saw a picture of a fountain on the screen and the Lord spoke to me and said, "Are you ready to be a pastor?" I wanted to say yes, but as I said before I was comfortable. To make a long story short, in February of 2010 I relocated to Lakeland, Florida and the vision of "The Flood Church" began.

For six months a team of eight had restless nights, arguments, tears, renting unknown to us a house that was being foreclosed, and even some departures before the glorious opening of August 16, 2010. I'll never forget that morning. My mom had come down from Georgia friends drove in from all over to behold exactly what Pastor Tiger was going to come up with in this great "church" planting idea. It was a great service. Since the inception of that date we had to deal with a lot of nay-sayers and negative reports with the community. I never dealt with so much hate and animosity from people like I experienced when I planted this church, but God knew that he equipped me with everything that I should want or need.

As of today we have our own building and have been named "One of the fastest growing multi-cultural churches" in Eagle Lake, Florida. In just ten months we are running well over sixty and God is doing some awesome things – don't lose hope. The statistics for Florida is that only 1 out of two plants make it through their first six months – we have!

If you're comfortable find a way out and quick! My God specializes in the impossible. You never realize how much you can be stretched until things become uncomfortable. I believe he specializes in the uncomfortable because he has to pull us out of our comfort zone – when things are not normal he steps in and creates "something" out of "nothing."

I told my story to tell you to never stop believing in what God spoke. To you, the reader, don't give up or throw in the towel. To you church leader or pastor, help is on the way. Don't lose heart, hold on because God is about to turn some things around for you.

That's the word for you get ready for a turn around. I've held that word for two years now and speak it every chance I get. What the devil meant for your harm – God said he would turn it around for your good! Finances, health, children, your spouse, God's got this! Now get up and Turn Around. Genesis 50:20

Dreams, Visions and A Future Spouse?

By Aimee Montgomery

How to be led by God in choosing a spouse...

is probably one of the number one questions I have had singles ask me about. Can God give you dreams and visions and lead you to the “right” one? Is there just “one” person out there for you? Sometimes I have found that there is a lack of balance on this subject. In my personal experience I have seen others either be really spooky spiritual about it or to the other extreme and be extremely flesh oriented about it. The reality is that marriage is something that God created for the earth so that man would not be alone and he would have a helpmate that was equal to him and just as able to come along side him, as in Genesis 2. It is not something that is eternal and the Bible gives very clear guidelines in choosing a mate, such as being equally yoked, and sometimes it takes discernment in the spirit to determine if you are truly equally yoked, as well as time in getting to know each other. Too often I have had conversations with people who are choosing to get married really fast to someone who is not equally yoked with them, who are not at the same spiritual level but they say “they are open” this ultimately leads to a lot of trouble down the road for the marriage. I think this truth can also be taken and applied to all areas of our lives when choosing a spouse. It’s important that your families get a long because you don’t just marry a person you marry their family. You should both be part of the same church denomination or choose one as a couple, as it would not be beneficial to attend church separately. In addition, it’s important that if you are in ministry that you choose someone who shares that passion. There have been many examples of someone who is in ministry marrying someone who has no passion for it and in the end they become resentful. Ministry is unlike any other career on the earth as it requires your entire life, your 24/7 dedication and if one spouse has no heart for it you can guarantee they will in the long run become resentful. So there are many things to consider when choosing a spouse.

However, I do absolutely believe that God does and can lead us to those who may be good choices. However, when we start to talk about dreams and visions this can be an area that many are misled if they do not know how to properly interpret what God is telling them. I wanted to address this subject because I feel it is one that has caused many to be confused, disillusioned and in some cases the enemy has used it to bring some into bondage. You may wonder what I mean by that, but imagine for a moment that you think God has told you that there is one person you are to marry but that person doesn’t share the same feelings. Then you are left in bondage believing that you need to wait and have faith for the other person to come around; which ultimately may never happen.

This can happen even in a relationship where two people share the same feelings, even felt that God led each other to meet but ultimately end the relationship. This happened to a friend of mine who was in a serious relationship with a fellow minister. They had even received prophetic words over their future ministry as a couple by well known prophets. Yet in the end, he broke up with her and within a very short period of time married another woman. Fast forward now years later and they both are married to other people with beautiful families and ministries of their own.

The reality is that marriage is one of the things God has created for this earth. And although there are spiritual aspects to marriage, it is not a union that lasts for eternity, and there is an aspect of the decision that must be made in the flesh. Marriage is fleshy and if you try and be too spiritual you might end up in a marriage with someone you are not even attracted to. I have seen well meaning parents feel like they received “words” for their children to get married and then I have seen this individuals get married even though they were not in love. It may be that the parents heard from God but it is important to allow God to be God and if He says it will come to pass then allow it to happen naturally and not force it.

Many believe that there is only one person out there for you and that you must find that one to marry. But the simple math of the population, in that there are not an equal number of men and women alive, shows this to be an impossibility. You add to that those whose spouses die and then remarry, and you realize that in some cases one person gets more than one spouse in a lifetime. If you then add divorce to the mix, even though that is not God's will, it becomes even more complicated. If we were destined to be with one particular person then what would be the purpose of marriage vows? Why make a promise to God and a spouse if it was ordered by God? I believe it becomes God's will when we make that promise to a spouse and to God. Then may no man separate it.

With that said, I would like to reiterate that I do without a shadow of a doubt believe that God can and does guide us in our choices, leads us into people's lives and will even lead us right into a relationship He sees would be good.

If we look at the story in the Bible of how Abraham was led in finding a wife for his son Isaac it is clear that his servant was led by the Lord. Genesis 22: 42-46 says, "When I came to the spring today, I said, 'Oh Lord, God of my master Abraham, if you will, please grant success to the journey on which I have come. See, I am standing beside this spring; if a maiden comes out to draw water and I say to her, 'Please let me drink a little water from your jar,' and if she says to me, 'Drink, and I'll draw water for your camels too,' let her be the one the LORD has chosen for my master's son. 'Before I finished praying in my heart, Rebekah came out, with her jar on her shoulder. She went down to the spring and drew water, and I said to her, 'Please give me a drink. 'She quickly lowered her jar from her shoulder and said, 'Drink, and I'll water your camels too.' So I drank, and she watered the camels also.

Then in verse 50 Rebekah's family responds: Laban and Bethuel answered, "This is from the LORD; we can say nothing to you one way or the other. ⁵¹ Here is Rebekah; take her and go, and let her become the wife of your master's son, as the LORD has directed."

However I want you to notice that in verses 57-58 Rebekah is still given a choice: "Then they said, 'Let's call the girl and ask her about it.' So they called Rebekah and asked her, 'Will you go with this man?' 'I will go,' she said."

If you look at scripture when Abraham found Isaac a wife, you will notice that she was given a decision even though God led Abraham's servant to her. Abraham had in fact said that if she chose not to go then the servant was not bound to find Isaac a wife there. You better believe that had she not made the decision to go be Isaac's wife that God would have brought along someone else just as qualified for the job. Otherwise, the promise to Abraham of numerous descendants would not have been fulfilled.

I have heard many married couples tell me stories of how they met. How it was so supernatural; that prophetic words were fulfilled, leadership received confirmation, and they even knew before they met the type of person they would marry. Yet I have to tell you that this too has happened to me more than once but in the end I chose not to marry them. Each time I had very good moral reasons not to and I am happy with my choices to this day. I will add that I was not disobedient to God either and in fact, two of the men I almost married are now married with beautiful families. God continues to lead me in my decisions and I believe one day will lead me to one that will be better for me than had I chosen to marry any other person. I believe this because my decisions have always been based upon righteousness.

Especially when it comes to relationships often others will attempt to put meaning to your dreams and visions and it's important not to get caught up into it, but instead listen to what the Lord is telling you. I mentioned in the other article I wrote for this magazine that there was a minister who interpreted my dreams for me back in 2007. One of those dreams was about a future spouse and at the time I wanted to make sure I wasn't reading into it so asked if he could interpret it. He confirmed that I had interpreted the dream correctly and that it was about how I would meet the one I would finally marry but then the minister I was serving at the time suddenly thought my dream was about him. Yet I had no intention of being romantically involved with him. This is a perfect example of someone else putting meaning onto your dreams.

The other thing I want to mention was that I have seen many men and women led astray into believing a certain person was their future spouse by a vision or a dream they got that they misinterpreted. In fact, the day that my dream was interpreted in front of about a thousand people at this conference I had later gone into the women's restroom only to hear several women saying they believed that the minister who I served was their future husband. At the time this was a big issue in the ministry, women always thinking he was their future husband and they tried to use my dream as an example to bring some freedom into the minds of all these women, but it did not work. But as you can probably see it was not just the women that needed help it was the minister himself because he was doing the same thing to me.

It is also very important to understand and learn to interpret dreams and visions correctly. For example, I had one friend who dreamt she was resting in a bed with a certain single minister and his family was in the room. She thought this meant he was to be her husband but in fact, it most likely meant that she was in covenant relationship with them, that she was receiving revelation and that she would have an intimate relationship with them. But it did not mean marriage. In fact, often if you dream of actually marrying someone it often means a covenant relationship you are entering with them such as serving someone in ministry. I personally had only one dream where I showed up at a church, filled with my family, was given a wedding dress and when I got to the altar was given a choice to marry the groom. This in fact came to pass in my life when a man came into my life and wanted to marry me so fast that he had the whole wedding planned before I even knew how I truly felt. He did ask me to marry him and in the end I chose not too. But you will notice that God showed me even in my dream that I still had a choice. I also want to mention that in my dream God used another man in my dream as the groom who to me was symbolic for someone who was apostolic. So I did not dream about the man who came into my life, I merely was told symbolically of the decision I was going to be given.

This is why I believe it is important to try to lean towards the symbolism of a dream and trust God to see it come to pass and also not to assume if you do get a prophetic dream about a spouse that you know who it is. Unless of course you are already in the relationship and you are seeking God's wisdom about it. The reality is you and I have a big enough God to bring anyone along at anytime that would completely fulfill what He has said to us about a spouse. I also believe that He is a big enough God to bring someone else along if the one He had picked out chose to walk the other way. You look at the story of Ruth when she ran to Boaz to see if he would marry her, his response was to tell her to wait and see first if anyone else was better than he was would choose her first. Only if no one else wanted her would he marry her. That certainly doesn't seem very romantic or spiritual to me yet God's hand still moved in the situation and I am sure God would have blessed the marriage of whomever Ruth married.

I do believe that if you are in a relationship and you are going to get married that God will guide you in that regard through dreams and visions; a good example of this with Mary and Joseph. Now Joseph chose Mary as a wife first and that should be noted. However, when he became afraid to marry her because he thought she was in sin he had a dream where an angel told him not to be afraid to marry her. Then it says that he woke up and did as the Lord had commanded him and married her. But I want you to remember that Joseph chose Mary before he had this dream so God did not ask him to marry someone he had not already chosen (Matthew 1). So I do believe that if two people have chosen to marry that God will guide them and confirm their decision.

The bible is full of stories of people meeting and falling in love. Most were arranged marriages and it was rare that a woman had a choice in the matter. I am glad that as a woman in 2010 that I can be guided in my decisions by the Holy Spirit, be led by God to good choices and that God also gives me freedom to choose.

If you find yourself in a situation where you have felt God is calling you to marry one person and that person does not share those feelings, try giving it up to God and believing that God is bigger than your current world and circle of friends. Even if God did lead you to that person they still have free will and may in fact not choose you. God is still faithful and even if they don't choose you He can bring someone else along.

Sometimes we like to think that we only hear from the Lord but often our own flesh and sometimes even the enemy can speak to us. The number one test of any word you feel you have gotten from God is truly from God is the fruit that it produces in your life. If it produces the fruit of the Spirit it is of God. If it produces anything other than the fruit of the Spirit chances are it was not from the Lord.

About Aimee

Having a ministry born out of revival, as a revivalist and prophetic evangelist, Aimee Montgomery's vision is to reach the world for Christ, to bring a revolution of knowing Jesus to the body and empower people to fulfill their purpose. She travels throughout America and the world to bring a fresh word and impartation of God's Spirit through conferences, prophetic healing revival services and international miracle crusades. She believes that the Lord desires to raise up a spiritual generation to live in the power and presence of the Holy Spirit and to be carriers of His glory and do great exploits for the Kingdom.

Extensive bible study, formal schooling, prayer, and worldwide ministry experience have prepared Aimee to minister life to the Body of Christ. She is gifted to encourage and edify people to do great exploits in the name of Jesus, as they receive the impartation of their identity in Christ and what it is to experience and live out of intimacy with the Holy Spirit. Aimee moves predominately and powerfully in the office of a prophet, as well as the gifts of healing, signs and wonders, and words of knowledge. Many have testified to the healing's, deliverance's, salvation's, Baptism's of the Holy Spirit and many other miracles that occur during her ministry

Through personal experiences of hardship, facing death, being healed and experiencing uncommon encounters with the Holy Spirit many are set free and healed simply by her testimony of God's great hand of love in her own life. Led by the Holy Spirit she often ministers to the lost outside of the church, in healing, having words of knowledge and prophecy to open their heart up to the gospel.

Aimee was a youth worker for Pastor Benny Perez and ministered under his leadership, during revival at Marysville First Assembly of God. It was then she started to notice the power of God show up dramatically in her ministry. People were healed, saved and delivered through the power of the Holy Spirit. At the request of a local Chaplain, she led extended prayer meetings in a warehouse in Mukilteo, Washington. These meetings consisted of both youth and Veterans. This then led her into accepting a position as Youth Pastor for a church plant (Words of Life Fellowship) that utilized the same warehouse for church services. She has ministered overseas in Italy as an evangelist preaching the gospel to entire cities at one time via loud speakers in town squares, doing street evangelism, ministering through vehicles such as clowning, drama, mime, puppets and singing. As well as serving as an interpreter between American's and Italians for the purposes of evangelism. She has continued to grow in the Lord and go after her vision of touching the world with Christ.

She is a graduate of Southwestern Assemblies of God University where she earned a BS Degree in Church Ministries, and of Northwest Graduate School (Undergrad Division) where she attended four-years of Bible College combined with a four-year mission's internship for Global Evangelization. She has also received training through Reinhard Bonnke's, School of Fire, Evangelism by Fire program as well as Tim Storey's, School of Miracles. She has extensive experience in all areas of ministry and has served under the leadership of four evangelists, from Italy, Africa and the U.S. She is currently under the leadership of Pastor's Tracey and Nathalie Armstrong of the Citadel Church in Des Moines, Washington.

The Leaves Are Healing For The Nations

Essential Oils

By Sharnael Wolverton

PRAYER AND OILS

This revelation the Lord is releasing scientifically will blow your mind and people are getting HEALED but Gods provision in combination of prayer and essential oils...not the diluted fillers but REAL 100% ESSENTIAL OILS.

I was just introduced to Dr. Stewart who has is connected to Dr Lucky (who is connected to David Van Koeving and this quantum physics/science Christianity which is crashing down the worst cases of sickness...cancer, fibro, chronic fatigue, thyroid issues, weight loss trouble, migraine, hormonal imbalance, insomnia etc.

Essential oils are mentioned or referred to in 1,031 references in Bible; 46 out of 66 books in Bible. Releasing trapped trauma from limbic system which is almost ALWAYS assigned to a body part causing DIS-EASE! disease!

OUR COMPLEX BRAINS

The way God has designed our minds, we are very protected by a complex tissue layer around our brain. Scientist have not been able to find anything that penetrates or stimulate pituitary or pineal part of brain. There is no written word or verbal communication that can tap into that area or stimulate that area of the brain. No amount of sozo, books, counseling etc. thus far, except SMELL...which is why they have to do BRAIN surgery for cancer...chemo doesn't even penetrate the protective tissue of brain as it is too complex!

But guess what? PURE essential oils does! They can stimulate that area of the brain to release trapped trauma and release the trauma assigned to the organ, giving spiritual and PHYSICAL HEALING release in one punch!

Word of caution too, you cant get just any kind of essential oils because unfortunately the way the U.S. FDA regulates it with labeling...legally they can put on the label 100% even if it is only 5% pure...(just like Wal-Mart can sell "juice" with the label "juice" real big but only actually 10% juice with the rest SUGAR WATER!).

Diluted oils or oils you get at bible books stores in see through bottles are not pure!!! They have NO healing properties!...just makes you smell good – maybe. Real 100% essential oils must be in an amber bottle avoiding direct sunlight which kills the life of the oil. Even if they are in the amber bottle it doesn't mean they are REAL or PURE!

These products I am currently working with have been tested for frequency and for purity by myself and others, making sure there are no fillers (fillers like veg oil and fat oil won't penetrate the blood, organs, cells or brain tissue) . This stuff is the best I have found through MUCH research.

ESSENTIAL OIL PASSES THE "BLOOD BRAIN BARRIER" doing 6 main things:

- Cleaning of cells to pass info back and forth to each other
- Disintegrates the chemical film "brain fog" over your brain to help transmitters communicate again in your brain (which you cannot help but collect in the environment we currently live in.)
- Deprograms defective cells
- ACTUALLY reprograms cells to better state
- Kills FREE radicals at a HIGH rate! (even way higher than most foods and vegetables)
- Raise frequency in your body above disease line

FREQUENCY

Frequency is a measure rate of electrical energy that is constant between two point. Everything has an electrical charge. There is a definite relationship between frequency and disease (Reference Guide for Essential Oils by Connie Higley pg 3).

Because our body is 66% in frequency the oils are testing in the 78-320 MHz range thus using them raises us higher than disease. and even tapping us into parts of the brain opening freeing communication including the Spirit of God communication!

Aaron fumigated the city in Numbers 12 with frankincense, myrrh and onycha to stop a plague...all through scripture it says to pray and ANOINT (the word ANOINT means "masac" which translated means MASSAGE) with oil - essential oils.

Prayer brings frequency up 15% and in combination with high frequency PURE ESSENTIAL oils (Lavender 118, Frankincense 96, Rose oil 320 and so on) also in combination with LOVE, Faith and POSITIVE Intention...we have a great formula for healing and restoring including releasing TRAPPED trauma in the limbic system and trapped trauma even in the cells!

Clinical studies prove that just holding a cup of coffee in your hand will drop your frequency from 68 MHz to 58 MHz in 3 seconds. When you inhale essential oils directly after within 21 seconds your frequency will return to 66mhz. (Reference Guide for Essential Oils by Connie Higley pg 4)

On the other hand, those in the studies who did not use essential oils to boost back the frequency of their bodies took 3 whole days to recoup that lost frequency, opening themselves up to sickness and disease. Cold symptoms start at 58mhz, flu at 57mhz, Candida at 55mhz, Cancer at 42mhz etc. (Reference Guide for Essential Oils by Connie Higley pg 4)

ORGAN TRANSPLANTS AND LIMBI MEMORY

Clinical studies are showing that those who receive organ transplants are taking on behaviors and ideas or cravings of the people who once had the organs...hence, a man who ate a lot of french fries and listened to the Beatles A LOT gives a kidney away and suddenly the guy who has the transplanted kidney craves french fries and can't stop humming Beatles tunes - why? Because it is all stored in the organ through the molecules.

Clinical Limbic Storage comes through 3 ways:

1. Authority figures speaking over us in certain situations will restore in cells
2. Repetition of anything will store good or bad...(so reading scriptures and worship music etc also store)
3. Trauma car accident, horse throwing you off, sexual abuse, verbal abuse, physical abuse, etc and other trauma

These in combination are even more rooted in!

Your Central Limbic system in your brain acts as a Librarian taking in this information and filing or assigning to an organ...kidney, pancreas, etc...which cause disease...showing up as Diabetes, kidney problems etc. When stimulation comes in through essential oils SMELL, it releases and releases assignment to organs.

Raindrop therapy is massage in combination with essential oils, prayer and the prophetic providing great results! I am currently getting certified in this and have watched many in training...many of the clients weep, cry, or laugh in process as they are on the massage table getting healed and delivered instantly.

To "anoint" in the bible was not the way we have been taught today with a little crisis cross on the forehead and a little prayer on the way at the door. It was prayer and essential oils massaged on the crown, shoulders or feet of people in order to deliver healing properties.

ANTIBIOTICS VS OILS

Antibiotics the synthetic medicines have not only "side effects" but DIRECT negative results. Antibiotics kill everything good and bad. So does chemo. Essential oils have the God smarts to kill what is bad and leave what is good. When you have antibiotics it kills most everything but leaves a few stragglers deciding to create new strains, thus causing resistance to the original antibiotic and leaving Dr's in a constant state of having to develop new medicine to combat the resistant body seeing anything synthetic as Foreign.

True essential oils are received as Gods pure restoring help for the body. Giving you the relief and healing you need once and for all. There are many essential oils you can use for in place of antibiotics. Tea Tree oil or melaleuca alternifolia is a good one. Also Thieves, which is a blend.

Thieves Essential Oils Blends- the ANTI-PLAGUE OILS

This is where it all started for me. Last October, I was in a meeting with Dr. David Stewart who spoke of the essential oils blend called "Thieves."

Back in the days of King James, literally, there was quite the bubonic plague going around killing off everyone. People were so fearful of this epidemic that once someone died, they would not even be buried but left in the street because no one wanted to risk getting ill and dying themselves.

A few men, working with essential oils found a formula to drop on mask covering their faces and anointing their hands, which protected them from the deadly illness, thus allowing them to clean house of the dead...stealing everything they had including their shoes, wallets, severely etc and not getting sick. After a period of time, people got word about this and told the king. King James wanted to get his "cut" and found the men responsible demanding the formula now called "thieves.

Thieves is used to combat even AIRBORNE diseases!

Weber University did clinical studies concluding that after diffusing Thieves for 12 minutes there was a 91% reduction in the number of gram positive Micrococcus lutes organism, after 20 minutes there was a 99.3%. Another study against gram negative Pseudomonas aeruginosa showed a kill rate of 99.96% after 12 minutes of diffusion! (Reference Guide for Essential Oils by Connie Higley pg 192)

Reminds me when John G. Lake had scientist test him and the use of God's healing through him. The scientist would put a bacteria or even viral disease in his hand and they would watch under a microscope how it would die before their eyes with prayer!

Thieves has the same power the kill disease instantly! Even has the power to kill BLACK MOLD! You can add drop in a bucket and use for mopping floors getting rid of toxic cleaners destroying our brains. We can put a few drops in a spray bottle and spray down your house, sheets, counter tops etc. You can put drops on the bottom of your feet where the pores of your skin are most open, shooting up through the bloodstream as a protective guard. You can diffuse in your home as well with diffusers available through our website.

I have been approached by many people over the years to partner with cooking companies, jewelry, vitamins, vitamin drinks, skin care and much more and honestly have very little interest in any of those thing and I have not had the honest ability to put my stamp of approval of any of those listed previous. Not to mention material things mean nothing to me.

Healing and Kingdom things mean EVERYTHING TO ME so this was an easy decision for me and my board to incorporate these products in our ministry as a beautiful resource for sustaining optimal health and helping others achieve there goals in healthy physical ways.

I have already had direct results for myself, my children and my team over all including healing of Fibromyagia, sinus trouble, respiratory trouble, overall hormonal balance, weight loss, energy and protection of swine flu! (listen to the radio show above)

We are too young and have way to much to accomplish to be ill. I don't care how many prophecies you have or what your destiny is or how old or young you are if you are sick it makes it allot more difficult to get through and or enjoy the ride!

If you order the 150.00 kit today you will not only get 9 essential oils and all I mentioned above but you will receive 2 FREE essential oils Lavender and Peppermint.

Simply go to the link www.youngliving.org.swiftfire and click "Sign up" and choose "Distributor" and begin your healing journey. That simple.

You can always call our office if you have questions or need help somewhere along the line at 225-791-7696. I would be happy to answer any questions you have that I may not have covered. I can also come to your church to teach more extensively on this subject and others relating to kingdom health. I believe this is a way to reach optimal health through God's way, removing us from the dependence of "health care" and the "organized" and much broken "system."

My Testimony Of Healing

By Aimee Montgomery

This is my testimony of healing and restoration. For me, not only did I receive healing in my own body and mind, but with it came an anointing and an authority over sickness in others lives. I believe that God allowed me to experience the health challenges I have so that I would learn to take authority over these things, to learn the power I have over them through the blood of Jesus and be able to set others free as a result.

I was once considered disabled. I once had brain damage. I once died and went to heaven. I once could not walk and would often pass out from pain so severe that I would spend weeks stuck on the floor. I would sleep with my cell phone just to be able to call work to tell them I couldn't walk. This is the period of my life where I did no formal ministry. It was a period of my life where at the time I didn't understand what God was doing but I see now the Lord was allowing me to come against some of the worst demonic powers that cause sickness so that I could take new ground for the kingdom. The last fight I had with the enemy in this regard was when God healed my back at the Citadel Church in 2008. I had not been able to walk without pain for ten years. I had a bulging disk and it felt like a knife in my hips and my legs. I wore a piece of elastic around my hips to hold me together. I was healed and I went jogging for the first time in ten years.

I will tell you I learned that the enemy always tries to return with affliction. One night I was awoken by a demon harassing me. I have always been able to see into the spirit and I could see this particular demon was dressed in military like gear. However, everything he had on him were gadgets to cause pain and torture people. I got up out of my bed and I walked right up to the demon and I looked him straight in the eyes. I could see evil as he attempted to distort his face to try and intimidate me and I could feel the fear he attempted to attack me with. But by this time I had fought this demon far too long and I had had enough! I spoke these words at the top of my lungs and with a fire I am sure he will never forget! "I have been given all authority to trample on snakes and scorpions, all power over the power of the enemy!" I declare that no weapon formed against me shall prosper. I take that authority right now and I rebuke you and command you to go in the name of Jesus and I declare you cannot return! He has never messed with me again!

That was the end of the battle, but my fight began in 2000. I was heartbroken, I was unemployed, and my house was hit by lightning which damaged my phone line and then all my communication was cut off from friends. I was alone and hurting. I had once been on fire for the Lord and although I loved Him deeply I couldn't break through the warfare and my broken heart. I had a great heaviness over me and I didn't understand why I could not break through it..

I remember telling someone that I felt something was about to happen at the end of February, I thought it was something good that was about to happen. But then on February 29, 2000 I was on my way to pick up a friend to take her to work. It was very early and no one was on the road. I was traveling down a four lane highway, two lanes going my direction, two lanes going the opposite direction. I was traveling south in my far right hand lane and approaching a green light. Just before I came to the light a pickup truck coming from the opposite direction, in his far right hand lane, suddenly turned and drove across all the lanes including a turn lane and stopped in front of my car. In seconds, my car hit his. My head hit the window and I was knocked out. When I came to I realized my car keys had gone into my right knee, I could feel blood dripping down my head but I didn't realize I was bleeding internally. I then noticed the massive pain in my left arm. It had been completely shattered into a zillion pieces and I couldn't move it. It was the air bag that had shattered it.

Next I remember someone opening my door and I handed him my cell phone to call my mom. I felt the presence of the Holy Spirit so strong even while I was screaming in pain. I knew He was right there with me. The ambulance finally came and they could not get me out of my car so I had to climb out myself. This was after they took my shattered arm and pulled it out straight to the side, as I screamed in pain, then they had to put it to my side again so I would fit into the ambulance. The medic noted that my bone had broken through my skin not because that was what happened but because after moving my arm around it appeared that it would.

Once inside the ambulance I remember praying in tongues out loud and telling the fireman about Jesus. They gave me medicine for the pain but it did nothing and I had to remain awake for the visit to the hospital. When we reached the hospital and they took my x-rays I joked with the doctors and had them laughing so hard that when I did leave the entire staff saw me off at the door to Harborview where I would then eventually undergo three surgeries to attempt to save my arm. I have always found that laughing is key to making it through any crisis in life, especially when you are the one in the crisis. My parents had met up with me by then and stood praying and I asked my stepdad to speak the word over me to quiet my heart.

I don't have much memory after that, until I woke up in the hospital after a few days. This is when I was told I was disabled, that my funny bone or ulner nerve had been cut in half and that I would never use my arm again. But it was also when God spoke and what He said made what man said irrelevant. That day when they were to diagnose me as disabled I could do everything they said was impossible. See they saw for six hours during surgery that my nerve was cut in half. It is documented on paperwork I have to this day. Without that nerve you cannot operate your hand or arm and nerves do not medically regenerate. Small ones can find new paths, but large ones like that do not heal. But God actually healed mine. That was the day that eight surgeon's surrounded my bed and saw a miracle. One doctor jumped back and his jaw dropped.

To this day if I go into the hospital the doctors are amazed because my healing is a documented one. What I can do today is medically impossible. However, at the time even though they said that a miracle had taken place my arm would still be stuck in the bent position due to the trauma I had gone through. This was a healing I had to believe for and let me tell you, not everyone believed. I had one friend tell me that she did not think God would heal me. I was abandoned by most of my friends at this point in my life. I learned to do things with one hand and I learned to live by faith..

Every week I would go to my therapy appointments and I would fight for use of my arm. I fought for the use of my hand. I learned how to use my fingers again and I built strength up in my hand so I could hold things. I did all of this while believing God for a miracle. They would make molds to stretch my arm out at night and by the time I would go to bed my arm would be straighter than the mold...God was doing a miracle.

I had to undergo two more surgeries and repeat the therapy process where I would eventually have a total of two plates and fifteen pins and screws in my arm. Prior to the last surgery I had, the pins had shot through my wrist and skin from the inside and were infected, this was an "accident" that happened during therapy - they were not suppose to do that. I had to live for awhile with these pins or metal rods sticking out of my wrist and it wasn't until a surgeon had saw my wrist by mistake that he demanded I get into surgery because it was apparent I was close to losing my hand from the infection.

It was after this last surgery that I died. I had spent the night in the hospital and was fine, but when I went home the next day I was lying in my bed at night and I stopped breathing. I will share with you my experience...

I was staying with my pastors at the time. And I was in an upper room in their home. It was night time and I was attempting to sleep even though the fifteen pins and screws and the two plates in my arm were cutting into me like a million knives. But as I lay there in an instant I suddenly stopped breathing. I instantly left my body and I looked at myself lying in the bed. Then in yet another instant I was in heaven. It was a familiar setting as I had visited once when I was 16 and had a very long experience of being taken around heaven and shown things and experienced many things. A gate that is made of one pearl was there but this time there was no one with me, no one holding me back from going all the way inside as happened to be previously. It was bright white and the farther I got to the gate entrance the brighter it got. I was filled with such an amazing peace that I cannot put it into words. I had no pain, no cares anymore, and no worries; just peace. It was the presence of the Lord. And He welcomed me with open arms. I was home and I never even thought about earth I was just happy to be home. I then saw my grandmother standing there a little ways away, along with my friend John who died in 1998. They stood there in expectation waiting to greet me.

Then suddenly it hit me. I don't know if it was the Lord who revealed it or why I noticed it. But it seemed heaven was way too empty. I felt the heartbreak of the Lord for the missing people. Then the Lord asked me, "Aimee, are you ready to come home?" I looked at Him and although I really didn't want to leave I replied, "No Lord, not everyone knows you. I need to go back and tell them that they can know you." Instantly, just as fast as I had left I found myself back in my bed coughing and gasping for air. The Lord had granted my request and I was sent back to share the gospel with this world and to tell everyone how to know Him intimately. Heaven is far too empty! It is because of this experience that to this day I know my purpose on this earth is to let people know about the Lord, that they can really know Him not just about Him.

The following months were filled with more pain and struggle. One especially painful night I thought my youth pastor had come into the room and had given me some things to eat. He told me it would make the pain go away. I took it and then mentioned it to my pastors in the morning to thank him. Their reply was that no one had entered my room. No one had been at the house and the youth pastor hadn't even visited. I believe it was an angel that was taking care of me but because I thought it was the youth pastor I didn't question it. I believe that is why I saw the healing in my body so quickly because I was being ministered to.

The other thing that made my recovery difficult was that I had lost a lot of blood during my surgeries so my energy was low. In fact, at one point I had a doctor and nurse arguing over me about whether or not to do a blood transfusion. I had been asleep but woke up and at the time really had no clue what they were talking about. But I opened my mouth and said, "Do we have to do it now?" They replied, "No." Then I asked, "Can you do it later if we need to?" And they replied, "Yes." So then I told them, "Then let's not do it if we don't have to." The nurse proclaimed, "The patient has spoken!" This kept me from having to have a blood transfusion and the miracle about that was shortly after it was released in the news that the blood had been contaminated with the AIDS virus. So once again, God saved my life this time by keeping me from that transfusion.

The road of recovery was long. Living by faith that God is going to heal you is a difficult one, especially when you are facing facts that contradict what you see. I remember sitting in my attorney's office and finding out I may not get a whole lot of anything back financially from my accident. At the time, the only thing I knew was computers. But with only one hand there would be no way I could do an office job. I had no clue how I was going to support myself. I knew my heart was for ministry but I also knew that was not happening anytime soon. I sat in my attorney's office and they said to me, "Well consider yourself lucky, we have had clients who have had total permanent brain damage and cannot function from accidents that were not their fault and not get a penny."

I walked out of the office that day feeling very helpless at very least. What is interesting is that during my recovery I received more prophetic words for ministry than I ever had before. So God was not silent. He spoke loud and clear but it was my circumstances that fought to drown Him out. I had so many people come up to me with ways to be healed, trying to put magnets on me and all sorts of weird stuff. I spent most of my days at Harborview Hospital getting x-rayed, waiting to see doctors and seeing others come in with injuries. I spent a lot of time talking to others who were facing circumstances worse than I was and it gave me perspective on my own struggles.

One night at church I was worshiping the Lord with my one hand and I reminded the Lord that He said I would lay hands on the sick and they would be healed. That He had called me to have a healing ministry. I reminded Him that He said "hands" that I would lay my hands on people - not my one hand. To understand what happened next you have to know something special between me and the Lord. Often when I am worshiping and I raise my hands to the Lord I can feel Him grab my hands. It is just something special between us. Well this particular night as I worshiped the Lord with my one hand in the air, I felt Him grab both of my hands in response to my prayer. I knew at that moment that He was going to heal me.

I did eventually start back to my job, gain healing in my arm and life seemed to start to carry on. However, one thing I discovered after the fact was that I had brain damage called TBI. It is where your brain is injured by being shaken. I started to love everyone intensely, everything anyone ever did to me had absolutely no power, but at the same time I could not take conversations, was overwhelmed easily, could not separate fiction from real life and could not get jokes. I had no mental filter to tell what was real or not. I had this for about three months, which from what my doctors told me is past the point anyone recovers. Only 1 percent of the population ever recovers from TBI and that percentage are those who recover shortly after injured. So for me it was another miracle of healing. The hard part was that no one was told I had brain damage and it caused a lot of misunderstandings and I had a hard time interacting with people. No one understood and at the time my pastor thought it was because of God that it seemed all my past hurts were erased and it was why I was expressing so much love to others. I was miraculously healed of TBI and it was also a miracle.

You can imagine at this point I became a guinea pig for the medical community. First I was tested by a psychologist for mental health and full recovery. I had to do written tests and be evaluated for quite some time. They also spent time dealing with the trauma and nightmares I had from the accident. I was able to talk about my death experience and was assured that the experience had nothing to do to my brain injuries. I had not been on pain medication during that time because it made me really sick, so for most of my recovery I just took ibuprofen.

I was then contacted by Harborview and they sent me surveys to test my mental state and tested me to try and figure out why I recovered. Doctors called me and asked me a series of questions. Test after test after test. I also noticed that with all the metal in my arm I was able to detect earthquakes. The pain I felt was directly linked to the earthquakes we were having and I was able to predict one very large earthquake prior to it happening because of the pain in my arm. It was because all of my nerves were healing and the amount of metal in my arm. My doctor told me to call him whenever I felt anything. That made me laugh.

I was sent to the hospital and hooked up to electrodes, a metal cap, and they turned the electricity on. Then they took a needle dug it into my hand and dug around in my nerves. Since my paperwork said my nerves were dead they paid no attention to my discomfort. In fact I was sweating so bad from the pain of the tests that one doctor said to me calmly, "You might think of some surgery for that sweating problem." He had no clue the pain I was in!

All of my tests came back that I was healthy and whole and that no one could explain it. I gained full use of my arm and my hand. I was diagnosed as mentally healthy and whole just as if it never happened. And I began to start my life over. My ambition was to make every day count as I now knew how precious a day was. I soon discovered that it was impossible, to make every single day like your last, but that I could go after God and fight for my promises. I still continued to believe for healing in my back and as I mentioned before it took about ten years before I was totally healed in that regard.

I am thankful for what I have gone through. I have learned compassion, I have learned about healing, I have learned not to give up - what it is to persevere and I have learned that even when you think your life is over God still has a plan. I also learned how to walk out being an overcomer by the blood of the Lamb and the word of my testimony. I am a child of God and...I am a miracle.

I believe in miracles because I believe in God - Kathryn Kuhlman
